Update: As of 2011, the ASQA Journal (Paper and Online Edition - available to members only) is now being published quarterly. Please visit the Journal section or, if you are subscribed to the print version of the Journal, please expect it roughly one week after the online version goes online, which is on the first week-day of every quarter.)

As a result of increased submissions (which we believe signals an increasing trust in our membership policies and submission/data vetting practices), beginning in Q3 2008 the paper version of the ASQA Journal will become a quarterly publication. As usual, all non-journal submissions will be available in (near) real-time through QuantBase.
